THE LIBRARY
LA SIERRA UNIVERSITY

NOV 21 2012

RIVERSIDE, CALIF 92515
HERITAGE ROOM

Sight.

Ideas. Thought.

Dreams. Hallucinations.

These are words that some may associate with the name we have come to know as "Visions"...our yearbook. And depending on the person you are and the things you have experienced, the name will hold very different meanings. Vision is, perception, the range of view, and quite literally, it's what allows you to see. Vision was a cool skateboard company that also made T-shirts, shorts, and other stuff (you awake?).

To Seek

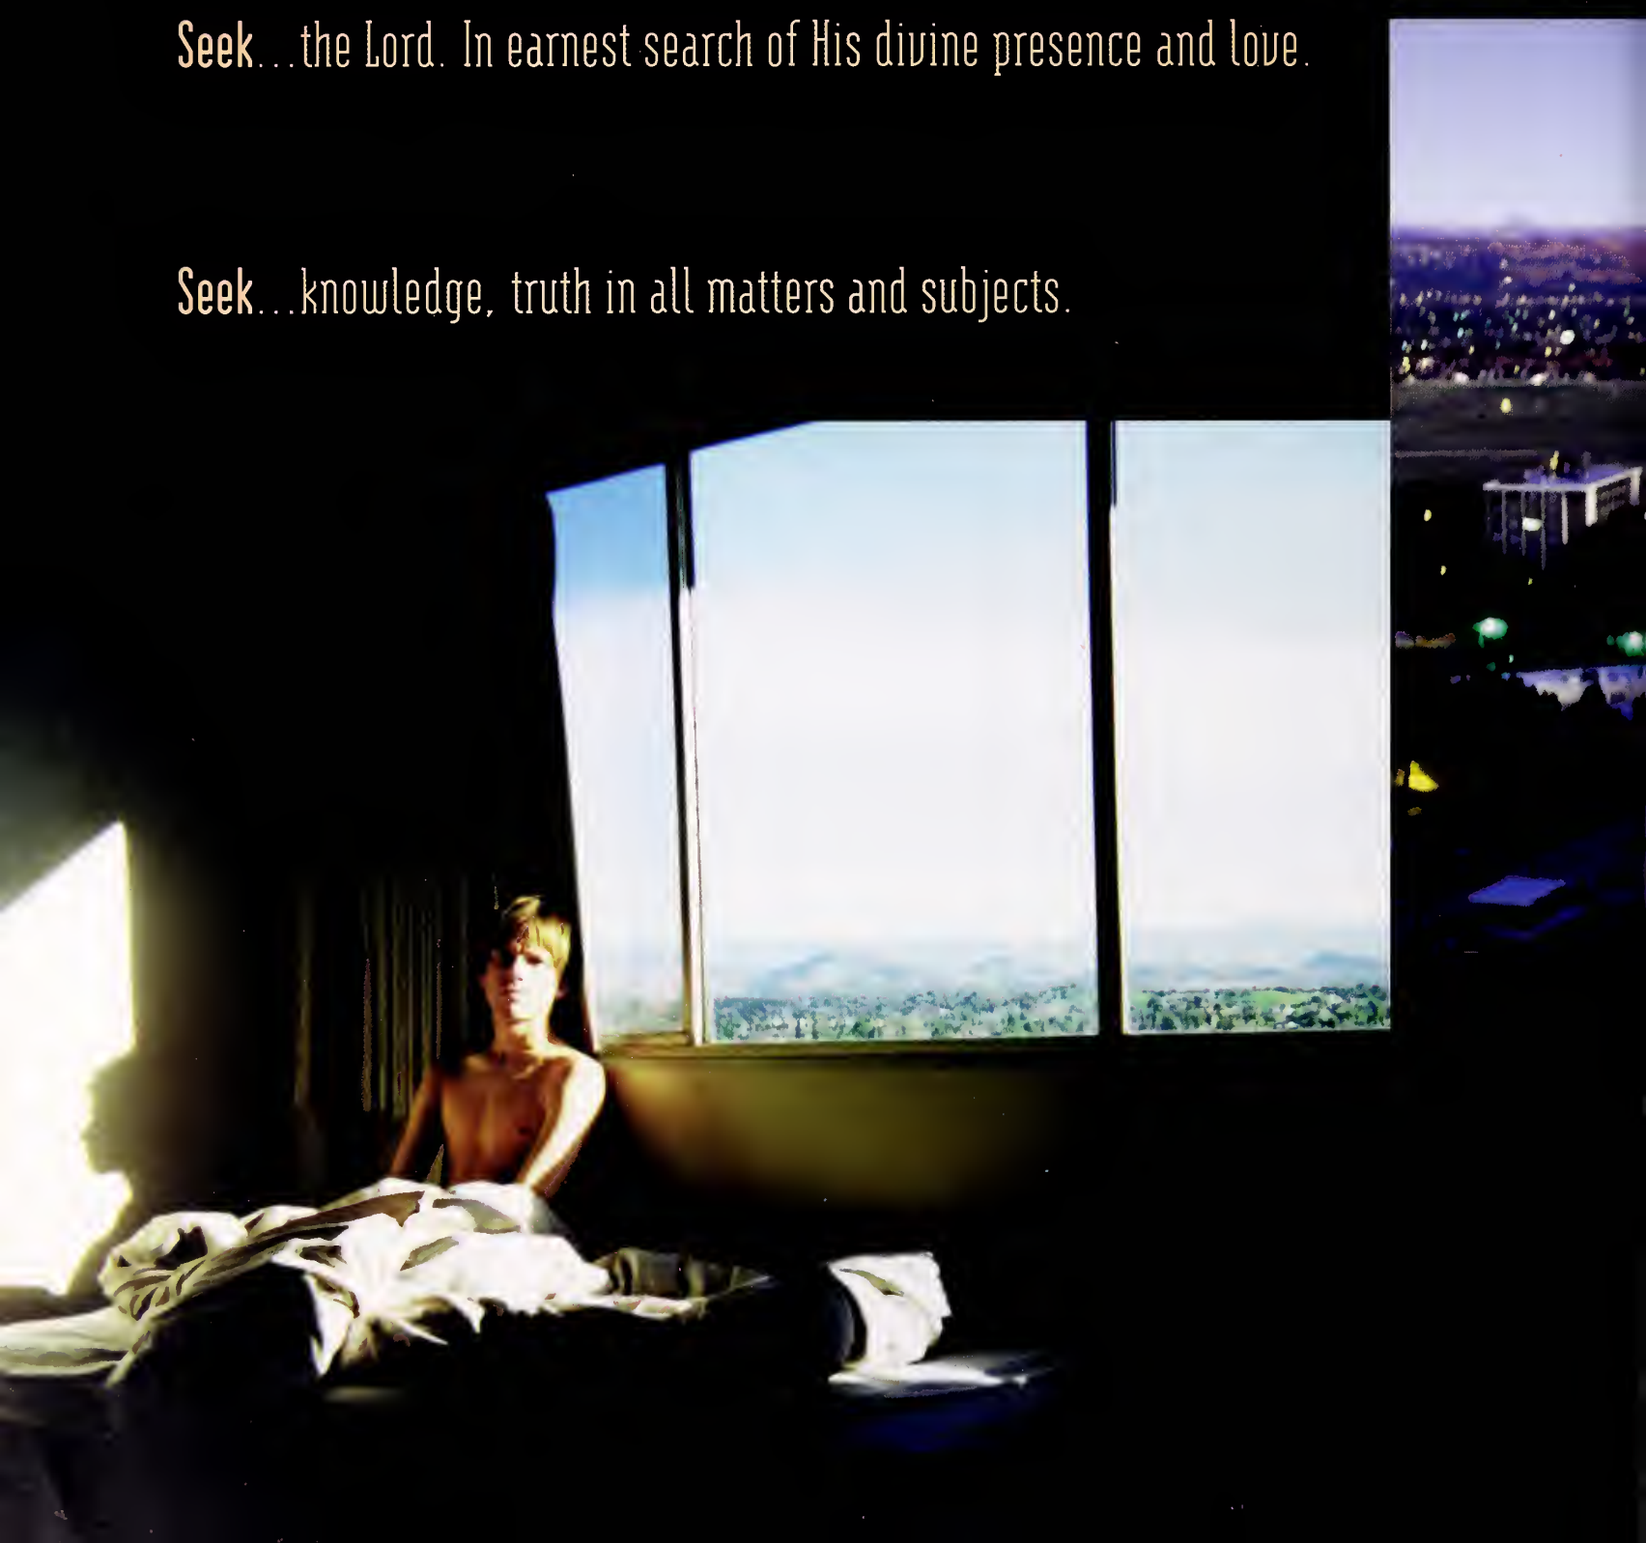
But more importantly, to a young La Sierra University still forging its identity, vision is what will move this institution to growth, independence, and excellence. It is foresight, discernment, insight, intuition, divination, astuteness, foreknowledge, and prescience. Vision is believing that great things can happen, when others do not. It may be blindingly apparent by now that the name, VISIONS is, shall we say, wide open to interpretation. And so are most words, phrases, aims, creeds. "To Seek, To Know, To Serve..." not only a phrase, but our goal, and our claim as an institution.

To Know

Do we each truly understand it's intended meaning? Do the words, seek, know, and serve really refer to the same thoughts as we had thought? Maybe.

Seek...the Lord. In earnest search of His divine presence and love.

Seek...knowledge, truth in all matters and subjects.



Enlightenment. Academic inquiry. And, with each inquiry, a discovery must follow

Knowledge. Know...yourself, your values, your beliefs.

Know your friends...those you love, those you cannot live without, know those for whom you would give up life itself. Know the Creator.

Know the One Who did give up life itself for the sake of humanity.

The last portion of this creed is the one that many ambitious, motivated, individuals find the most challenging.

The mere suggestion of this word runs against the grain of today's "me first" mindset...but it is at the heart of La Sierra's mission, and is the very purpose of Adventist Education. Serve... not only yourself, but those around you. Your family. Your community. Your city, state, nation, tribe, whatever. Serve your God... Having been given much, give back to others. Having had the opportunity to learn and grow, give others the same opportunity; for with those that have been given much....much is required.

As the creators of this publication, we make no claims of infallibility, nor do we offer a uniquely "definitive" interpretation of the VISIONS name, or La Sierra University's aim and motto...as we ourselves cannot be sure of its original intention. Instead, we say with some hesitation...it's up to you. Do as you see fit in your search to find meaning in "VISIONS", or in the phrase, "to seek, to know, to serve", and finally...as you attempt to find meaning in life. Realize also that the duality of meaning is a two sided coin. As we take the freedom to define that which we see, hear, and believe, we must also never lose sight of those things that never change...

truth that remains the same, always...

everywhere... everyone.

We would like to leave with you, the reader, a challenge:

To see things for what they are....to see things in new ways.

To see things that were never there before...to see those things that were always there before but unnoticed.

We challenge you to have VISION.

Seniors

This has been a good year at La Sierra University when it comes to academic rigor, the library's new on-line catalog, the new general education curriculum, spiritual atmosphere, enrollment, finances, volunteer gifts, student life, a revitalized SALSU, but especially because of YOU. We are delighted at the progress you have made here and congratulate you on the achievement of your goals, but we also have to say we are going to miss you. Without you, campus life will definitely not be the same. So thanks for the memories.

As you leave this University, I trust you are leaving with more than a degree or an entree into your chosen profession. I hope you have learned at La Sierra what Solomon, the wisest person who ever lived, took his whole life to learn. By his own bitter experience, Solomon, learned the emptiness of a life that seeks in earthly things its highest good. As he comes to the close of his autobiographical discourse, in the appendix to his biblical book we usually call Ecclesiastes, we read Solomon's summary of what life has taught him, "This is the end of the matter; you have heard it all. Fear God and obey his commands; for this is the whole duty of a human being" (12:13). The word "duty" is actually supplied in English translations. The original idea is that recognition of the creator and obedience to his wise requirements is the "whole of one's being"–the supreme objective of life.

It is important for you to realize that the diploma you have received is not an entitlement to the highest good life offers. All by itself, it will do nothing for you, and it carries no guarantees–even though it does come from La Sierra University! As I once heard someone say, it is merely a hunting license that will empower you to aim a little higher and shoot a little straighter in pursuit of new opportunities for personal and professional growth.

Go forth, then, with trust in yourself, in your competence, in your judgment, in your personal integrity, and especially trust in God. And trust others as well. Accord them dignity, value their differences and assume that they are competent and loyal, too, at least until they prove otherwise.

And be of good cheer. Smile a lot, and learn to disagree without being disagreeable. Be alert for opportunities to share your gifts, and share them willingly and generously. I challenge you to take advantage of every opportunity to help others–individuals whose lives you can touch with your gifts of compassion and caring, or perhaps organizations which can benefit from your competence and leadership. Armed as you are with your many blessings, and free of serious social handicaps, you have the potential to do much good in this world. Surely, you can advance your own interest, but believe yours is a much higher calling. So stay alert for every chance to help and to lead–including the opportunity to assist your alma mater.

Always strive to be the very best you can be, remembering along the way that what you are is God's gift to you, and what you become is your gift back to God! He made a world of difference, and so can you! May all your good dreams come true!

Student Life

The 1995-1996 school year has been challenging, rewarding, and full of energy. The social activities have provided a variety of activities to meet our diverse campus needs. The year started out with the Old Tyme Jubilee at the Fair and the momentum continued from that point on. At W.O.W. Riverside Sunday, the Universities and Colleges of Riverside partied alcohol free in Downtown Riverside. A smashing Study Break Bash at the roller rink, the opening of the Eagle's Nest, and an awesome Blues concert were further highlights of fall quarter. Winter blues were washed away with faculty talent on display, unending movies, and a real Reggae concert along with other Tuesday night concerts. Spring came roaring in with the re-opening of the Eagle's Nest and the return of Reggae as well as other music by popular demand. Center campus has been alive this year!

Spiritually, La Sierra University was blessed fall quarter by Jose Rojas, Tony Campolo, and Charles Bradford. The campus was moved to both tears and laughter through their strong messages on the realities of life. Community Service Day brought on new meaning for many of us who sometimes take the good life for granted. Being homeless during Serve '95 allowed us to experience life away from our soft, warm beds. The Student Week of Spiritual Emphasis during Spring Quarter was filled with wise words, music, drama, and prayer which inspired many. The new Chapel format created a sense of spirituality and purpose, enabling us to think and grow. Rendezvous, Monday worships, and small groups provided a variety of worship options. The Saturday morning Sound Sabbath School experience was a blessing as well. The Sound met our needs for praise, sharing, introspection, and reflection. Vespers and Candlelight Suppers featured such musical talents as Another Peace, Bob Martin, Analysis, Eden Found, and Outcry as well as dramas from Feat of Clay and Pieces of Eight.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

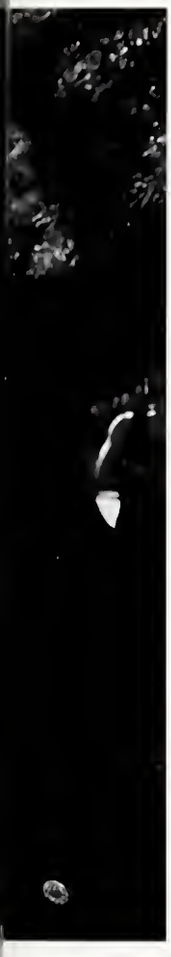
September 22-25 was filled with games, mixers, and loads of must-know information sessions. Orientation Weekend is considered the jump start for all of La Sierra's new faces as they begin their college career.

This quarterly ritual is considered the busiest time of the academic season. Acquaintances are made and remade as faces of old and new wander the halls of administration. This journey includes the long, worrisome trek to security where overdue parking tickets await.

ADVISING & REGISTRATION

OLD TYME JUBILEE at THE FAIR

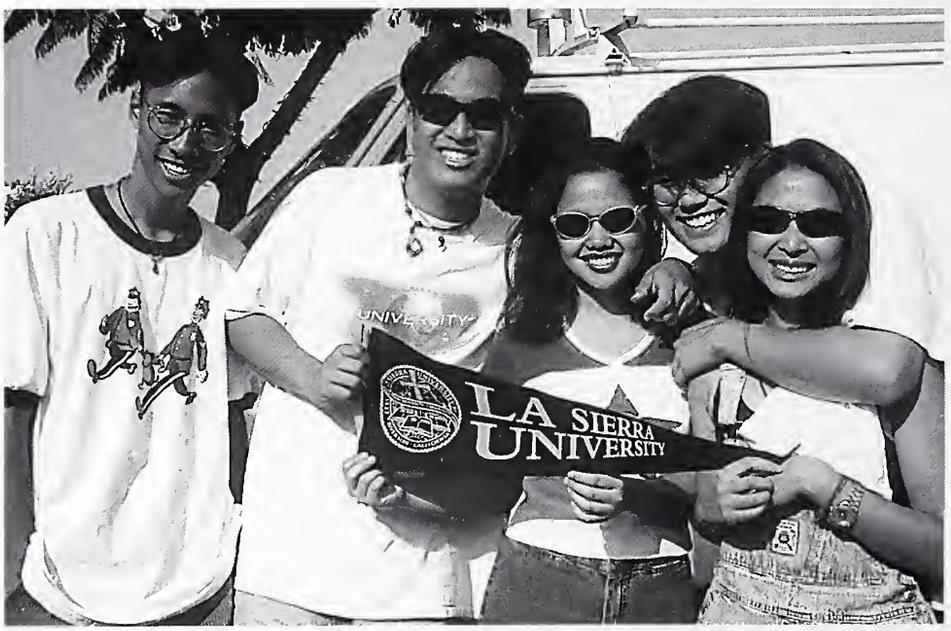
The first big bash sponsored by SALSU, the Student Association of La Sierra University, was held on October 1 during a La Sierra Live Weekend. It had the flavor of an old county fair (minus the pigs and cows). There were games and prizes to win (courtesy of SALSU and the LSU Bookstore), pies to be gobbled, and professors to be dunked. Need we say more?



CABL (Collegiate Advocates for Better Living) sponsored the first of many amazing feats of strength at the Old Tyme Jubilee: The CABL Arm Wrestling Competition. By participating, men and women demonstrated LSU's strong concern for health maintenance and physical fitness.

WOW!

RIVERSIDE

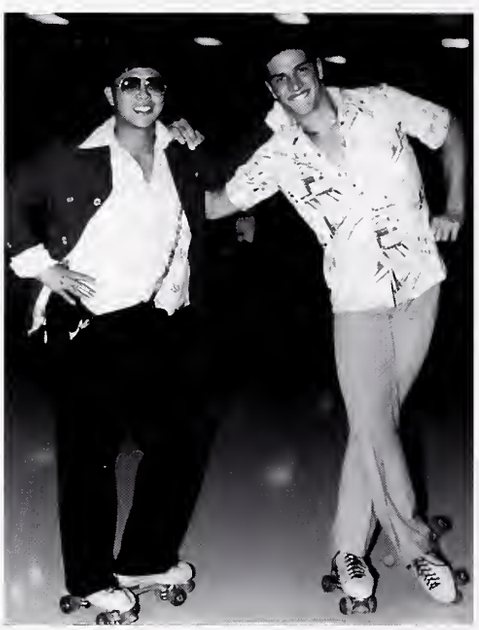


On October 8, 1995, the City of Riverside welcomed students from UCR, Cal-Baptist, RCC, and La Sierra who bombarded Main Street in downtown Riverside in celebration of the new school year. This street bash, commissioned by City Hall, included such entertainment as a Battle of the Bands in which La Sierra's very own Analysis performed. At the other end of the street, a jazz band played while people collected tons of freebies and flyers from the countless booths and shops or meandered through the classic car show. At WOW Weekend, there was much to see and do. What a welcome!

As part of Serve '95 (October 27-November 5), the Stahl Center transformed the front mall into a homeless habitat. Students experienced a night living in cardboard boxes and rags--away from the sturdy walls of home. They shared their experience by heading straight for church the next day--without showering, brushing their teeth, or combing their hair.

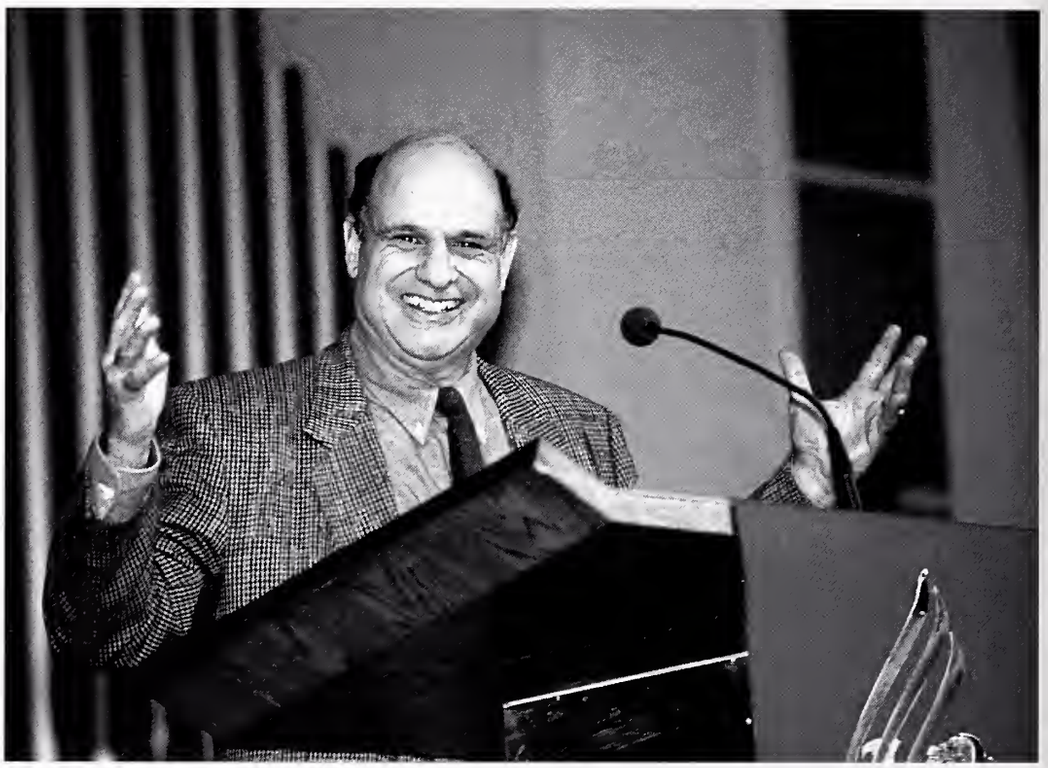
SERVE '95

Numero Uno Fiesta Grande !! On October 25, students moved to the groove of "Staying Alive"–a smash hit of an event! For LSU students, the Travolta spirit will be alive forever.



ROLLER SKATE

THE 70'S PARTY



Focus. Prayer. Service. Five powerful, high-impact themes were presented by Jose Rojas, Tony Campolo, and Charles Bradley during this year's first week of spiritual emphasis (October 30-November 3). Many regarded this as their best week of prayer experience ever at LSU.

Students and faculty members alike participated in the annual LSU Community Service Day. Many projects, which included house restoration, graffiti removal, and library work, were undertaken throughout the city.

WEEK OF PRAYER

COMMUNITY SERVICE DAY

Tired of the fast life? Running on empty? Three spiritual retreats organized by Campus Ministries enabled students to make a getaway to nature. Fall quarter was spent at Joshua Tree National Monument. Yosemite captured the students in all its splendor during winter quarter. Majestic Zion was the destination for spring. These retreats were both spiritually and mentally refreshing.

EAGLE'S NEST

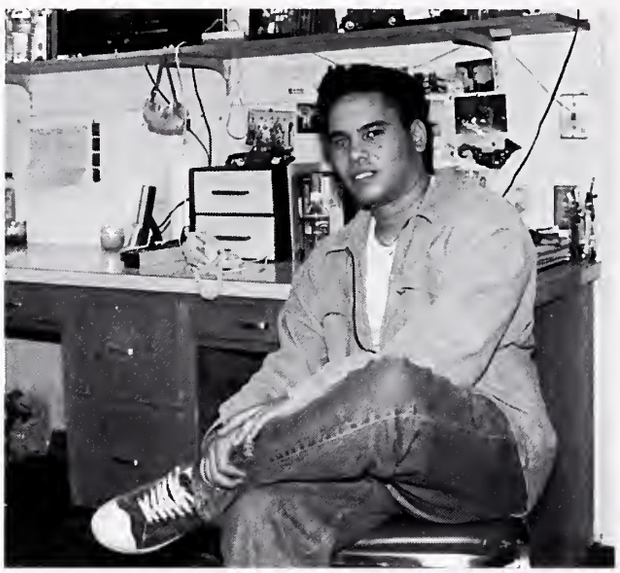
CONCERTS

This year's brand new Eagle's Nest Cafe was an exciting addition to campus life. In addition to the everyday friendly service, musical groups were featured each week. These concerts generally packed the house, causing many events to overflow into the student center next door.

Much work, time, and energy was dedicated behind the scenes for the creation of the Eagle's Nest Cafe and it's opening on November 16. For this, SALSU gratefully acknowledges those who contributed weekends, vacations, and early mornings to the conception and production of this cafe. Because of this group movement, what was once an idea has now become a reality!

DORMITORY OPEN HOUSE

South Hall, Angwin, Gladwyn, and Sierra Towers host annual open houses where friends and family are invited to roam the halls of campus dorm life. Competitions are held within most dorms in which prizes are awarded for best hall theme and room deco. (Note: Open houses are occasions where junk and odor hide in the confines of a tightly closed closet.)



BLUE HARBOR

FACULTY & STAFF

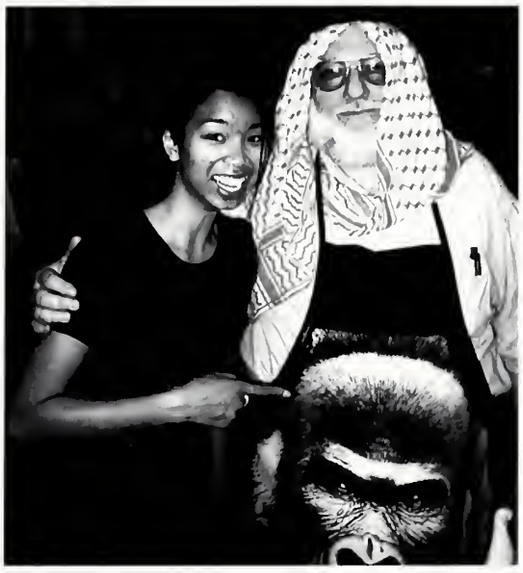
TALENT SHOW

Participants: Alejo Pizarro–"Star Spangled Banner"; Lennard Jorgensen, Warren Trenchard, Garland Dulan, Eugene Gascay, Lloyd Wilson, Hennes Guerpo, Jon McTaggart as "The La Sierra Choir Boys," Ed Karlow–"What It Was, Was Football"; Steve Daily–"Ode To Michigan"; Ken Sutter–"Mermaid Dreams"; Professor Mortimer Snurd–"When I'm Feeling Down"; Financial Administration Duet–"Walk Like A Man" Nancy Guerpo, Sue Curtis, Irma Ramirez–"A Taste Of Aloha-Oklahoma"; Gary Bradley–"Country Songs"; Gary Chartier–"I'm Like A Weeping Willow Over You"; Ray Shelden "It's Now Or Never".

"I've never laughed so hard in my life!" exclaimed one student about one of the hottest events of the year. Faculty, staff, and administrators alike performed hilarious selections for the student's entertainment on February 1. None will ever forget those La Sierra Choir Boy's legs, Dean Curtis' Hawaiian hip action, or Alejo Pizarro's rendition of the American Anthem on a pen.

International cuisine, artful displays, and cultural entertainment create the setting for the annual Festival of Nations. This year, the festival took place on February 11, thanks to the hard work of people such as student leader John Strehle. Chinese Club took the prize for best decorated booth while the fantastic falafels cooked up by the active Anthropology and Sociology Club won the prize for best food. Male Island Dancers drew much excitement for their performance of the Samoan Slap Dance, winning them the prize for best entertainment.

FESTIVAL OF NATIONS



LA SIERRA

LIVE WEEKENDS

Ten whole weekends jam-packed with action! For the second year in a row, the La Sierra Live Weekends continued with great success. These are ten weekends specially set aside by the university community to interact together in worship, in service, and in fun. Everyone is invited to each La Sierra Live activity: students, parents, faculty, staff, and the entire La Sierra University Church family. Activities start on Friday with the Candlelight Supper and dinnertime performances by the Christian drama group Feat of Clay. Sabbath is spent together in worship at the LSU church featuring dynamic sermons by Pastor Dan Smith. Afternoon activities are provided by SALSU through CABL or Campus Ministries while the rest of the weekend is planned with exciting things to do by the SALSU Social Department.

For the past two years, Paul Mendiola's contribution to Collegiate Advocates for Better Living has been a valuable asset for health education. Events such as the Blood Drive, AIDS Walk, mountain bike rides, and the Easter Sunrise worship atop Mt. Two-Bit gave students fun opportunities for community outreach.

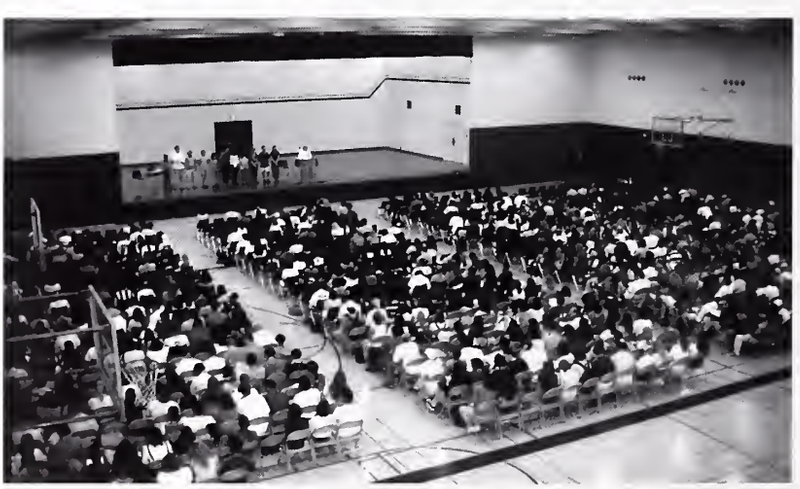
RENDEZVOUS



A coming together. That is what these three are. These are times to worship, exchange ideas, or reflect upon the pressing issues of our day. Together. As a family within the reaches of what is collectively called a university. It is here that we are nurtured.

RESURRECTION PAGEANT

On April 6, La Sierra's eighth annual re-enactment of Christ's resurrection found hundreds in attendance. This community-wide event increases in popularity year after year. Thanks to such people as student director Cameo Carter and the countless others who contribute to the success of the pageant, many are reminded of Christ's love for His people.

rganizations

Ethnic food, music, talent, and service are examples of what the many La Sierra University clubs have brought to the total campus community. Together with La Sierra University's great academic program, SALSU and Student Life provided for total learning experiences which helped us grow socially, emotionally, spiritually, and intellectually. Leadership roles were available for those who chose to stretch their learning. Eagles team members, resident assistants, club officers, SALSU officers, and many other student leaders jumped in, challenged their fears, and courageously took risks to expand their education here at La Sierra University. Individual acts of kindness through these organizations have been serendipitous. Some even gave blood for others during blood drives! Many have looked after their neighbors and listened to other's fears and pains, reminding us that even a quiet whisper can set off a domino effect that could change the world.

Student Association

The 1995-1996 executive officers of the Student Association of La Sierra University started this year with unbelievable visions and dreams. We were once a group of strangers and now we are a family. As a team, we've been blessed by God as we have witnessed our visions grow. The challenges of being an executive officer are to provide the weekly entertainment, and plan ahead for the changes we can make for the future of La Sierra University. The new community service program we've set up for next year; the small worship groups spreading across campus; the funds voted to provide student scholarships; the budget increase to help send missionaries to their fields; and the money allotted for the sole purpose of school spirit is an exciting future to face that the '95-'96 cabinet has provided.

Our year has been full of a wide array of activities ranging from Rendezvous and Christian Dinner Theater to the Olde Tyme Jubilee and the Faculty/Staff Talent Show. In addition to the astonishing speed that the Perspectives came off the press at the beginning of this school year, and the bi-weekly Criterion which never missed a deadline, our school now holds in their hands a classic yearbook to help remember the memories and the friends of a successful year.

Thank you SALSU. '95-'96 for your time, energy, sacrifice, and dedication in providing the more than 1600 students with diverse ways of making college the best years of our lives.

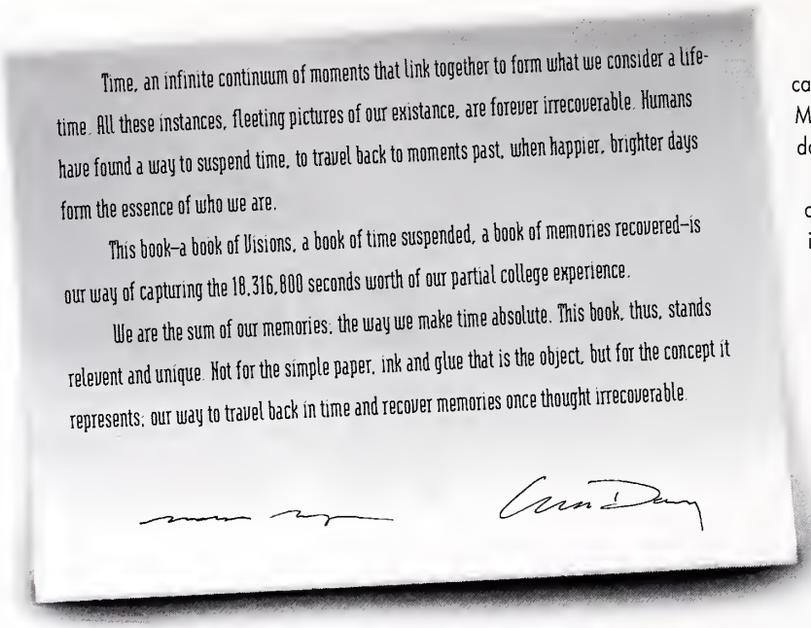
Editorial, Staff, FYI, & THANKS



Time, an infinite continuum of moments that link together to form what we consider a lifetime. All these instances, fleeting pictures of our existance, are forever irrecoverable. Humans have found a way to suspend time, to travel back to moments past, when happier, brighter days form the essence of who we are.

This book–a book of Visions, a book of time suspended, a book of memories recovered–is our way of capturing the 18,316,800 seconds worth of our partial college experience.

We are the sum of our memories; the way we make time absolute. This book, thus, stands relevent and unique. Not for the simple paper, ink and glue that is the object, but for the concept it represents; our way to travel back in time and recover memories once thought irrecoverable.

Visians, the La Sierro University Yeorbook, is published onnuolly by the Student Assaciatian af La Sierra University (SALSU). Crown Printers of San Bernardina Califarnia taak an the brave responsibility af printing this yeor's Visians (in a timely manner) which consists af 128 pages, 32 of which ore printed in calar, and has a praductian run af 1400 capies. The caver wos printed in faur calar an Rayal Impressian Glass 80lb., laminated, and cose-baund. The twa endsheets were printed an Standard White 100lb., and the remoinder of the book wos printed on Kirk Magnamatt Dull 100lb (which uses 20% post-consumer waste content ond 50% tatally chlarine free pulp, minimizing the release af diaxins in the environment, thus making it enviranmentally friendly). The entire baak was printed at 150 line screen.

This year's Visians was produced entirely on the Mocintosh computer, using a Quadra 800 and a Pawer Mac 9500. Black and white photagraphs were coptured using Ilford XP1 400 ar Kadak TMAX 100 and either scanned an a Umax flatbed sconner ar o Nikan slide sconner. Variaus slide and print films were used ta capture color photogrophs and later either scanned ta Kadak Phata CD® ar scanned with a Hawtek drum scanner. Senior partroits were token by Jack Phelps af Calumbio Phatagraphy (all rights reserved) and scanned with o Howtek drum sconner. Undergraduate mugshats were taken using a Canan RC570 digital camera with a praprietary acquire in Adabe Phatashap®. Photagraphs were [calar] carrected/manipulated in Adabe Phatashap®. Line-art was produced in Adabe Illustratar®. Typefaces used in this publicatian include: Flare Gathic Light, Futuro Baak, Madula Serif, and Nuptial Script. All loyout was done using QuarkXpress®.

Yau're better off now thot yau've read all af the obove and reolize, olthough technalagy has impraved expanentiolly in the post few yeors ond computers are almast invaluoble when it comes to producing o yearbaak, withaut all the time and humon effort put into this publicatian, yau'd prabably be staring at a blonk poge.

With thot in mind we the collective staff af Visians wauld like ta thank everyone and everything that helped make this publicatian passible:

Your Family

Dear Fatta,
All of us want to tell you something, "We love You." Although this is the end of your collegiate career, it's only the beginning of what we know will be a successful and influential life. May you always remember God and His many blessings on your life.
Love,
Bob, Mom, Fadi & Fain

Dear Marc,

From the first squall you produced when announcing your arrival on this earth, to the beautiful music you play today, you have been a radiant symphony in our lives.

As in music, life has some high notes, some low notes, but is splendid music, nevertheless. And as you enter the next phase of your life, face with courage life's great opportunities–often disguised as insolvable problems.

We all love you and will always be here, cheering you on

Congrotulotions Angela,
It has been o job wotching you grow up and complete your academic gools. When you told us that you wanted to mojor in science ond be a doctor, we exhaled and told you thot when you have completed your physics, chemistry, and biology requirements then tell us what you want to be. Congrotulations! You have occomplished that goal and still desire to be a doctor. We ore proud and honored to be your parents

You're our biggest class ever!
We love you.
Be sure to write.

James,

You have brought so much joy and inspiration to our lives. We are filled with happiness watching you step into the future. Congratulations. College graduation is another stepping stone in the journey of life. We have been so proud of everything that you have accomplished. Every lesson you have learned will carry you far in life.
Never give up on your goals. Success is sometimes sweetest, after you have worked hard to achieve it. We have every confidence in you .

Love Always,
Mom and Dad

James,

I am so proud of you. You have done well. Being with you these last few years have shown me how precious you are. You have an infectious joyful personality which spills out to everyone around. You will achieve your dreams. I believe in you. Congratulations!!!!

Love,
Emily

Dear Cameo,

From the time we first looked into your eyes, we knew you would achieve great things. And so you have! We congratulate you for achieving high academic honors, doing published research in you discipline, being active in the community, choosing good friends and most of all, for loving God.

You have always made us proud and bring us great joy.

Love,

Daddy, Mommy, Jessica, and Michael

Congratulations
